What is Adderall?

Adderall is a central nervous system stimulant used primarily to treat:

- Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD)
- Narcolepsy

The active ingredients, amphetamine and dextroamphetamine, work by increasing the levels of dopamine and norepinephrine in the brain, improving focus, alertness, and executive functioning.

Adderall is available in two main forms:

- Immediate-release (IR): Provides rapid effect, usually lasting 4–6 hours.
- Extended-release (XR): Provides sustained effect, usually lasting 8–12 hours.

The medication is available in various dosages, typically ranging from 5mg to 30mg, allowing doctors to tailor treatment according to individual needs.
