Adderall is a central nervous system (CNS) stimulant that combines two active ingredients—amphetamine and dextroamphetamine. These substances increase levels of dopamine and norepinephrine in the brain, chemicals essential for focus, alertness, and impulse control.

Doctors typically prescribe Adderall to manage:

- ADHD (Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder) – helping improve concentration, organization, and mental clarity.
- Narcolepsy – assisting individuals in staying awake and alert during daytime hours.

Adderall comes in two main formulations:

- Adderall Immediate-Release (IR): provides quick symptom relief lasting 4–6 hours.
- Adderall Extended-Release (XR): delivers longer-lasting effects for all-day focus and stability.
